NOTICE: Haldex Two and Four Port Relay Valves
Manufactured From September 19, 2000 – February 10, 2001
NHTSA File: 01E-020.001

Dear

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act.

Haldex Brake Systems (Haldex) has notified Meritor WABCO that a defect relating to motor vehicle safety exists in two and four port relay valves that Haldex manufactured between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001. The affected relay valves generally are used to control the service brake system and/or the parking brake system on power units equipped with a pneumatic braking system.

DEFECT:

Haldex has indicated that the defect results from a rough microfinish on the mating surface of the valve modulation tube. In cold weather environments, the rough microfinish may cause the exhaust relay valve to remain open when a high pressure application is released. If this occurs, the service brake system and/or park brake system may lose all air pressure. In a park brake system, an open relay valve will prevent the compressor from building system air pressure and the parking brake may not release. In a service brake system application, use of the primary brake system may be lost which will be accompanied by a low pressure warning buzzer.

Meritor WABCO is unaware of any accidents or injuries resulting from this defect.

RECOMMENDED ACTION:

Haldex recommends all relay valves manufactured between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001 be repaired or replaced. Haldex further recommends that service brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Safety Defect Campaign and that parking brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Field Service Campaign.

PARTS INVOLVED:

This action affects all relay valves identified by the part numbers shown below that were manufactured by Haldex between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001.

NOTICE: Haldex Two and Four Port Relay Valves
Manufactured From September 19, 2000 – February 10, 2001
NHTSA File: 01E-020.001

Dear

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act.

Haldex Brake Systems (Haldex) has notified Meritor WABCO that a defect relating to motor vehicle safety exists in two and four port relay valves that Haldex manufactured between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001. The affected relay valves generally are used to control the service brake system and/or the parking brake system on power units equipped with a pneumatic braking system.

DEFECT:

Haldex has indicated that the defect results from a rough microfinish on the mating surface of the valve modulation tube. In cold weather environments, the rough microfinish may cause the exhaust relay valve to remain open when a high pressure application is released. If this occurs, the service brake system and/or park brake system may lose all air pressure. In a park brake system, an open relay valve will prevent the compressor from building system air pressure and the parking brake may not release. In a service brake system application, use of the primary brake system may be lost which will be accompanied by a low pressure warning buzzer.

Meritor WABCO is unaware of any accidents or injuries resulting from this defect.

RECOMMENDED ACTION:

Haldex recommends all relay valves manufactured between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001 be repaired or replaced. Haldex further recommends that service brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Safety Defect Campaign and that parking brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Field Service Campaign.

NOTICE: Haldex Two and Four Port Relay Valves
Manufactured From September 19, 2000 – February 10, 2001
NHTSA File: 01E-020,001

Dear

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act.

Haldex Brake Systems (Haldex) has notified Meritor WABCO that a defect relating to motor vehicle safety exists in two and four port relay valves that Haldex manufactured between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001. The affected relay valves generally are used to control the service brake system and/or the parking brake system on power units equipped with a pneumatic braking system.

DEFECT:

Haldex has indicated that the defect results from a rough microfinish on the mating surface of the valve modulation tube. In cold weather environments, the rough microfinish may cause the exhaust relay valve to remain open when a high pressure application is released. If this occurs, the service brake system and/or park brake system may lose all air pressure. In a park brake system, an open relay valve will prevent the compressor from building system air pressure and the parking brake may not release. In a service brake system application, use of the primary brake system may be lost which will be accompanied by a low pressure warning buzzer.

Meritor WABCO is unaware of any accidents or injuries resulting from this defect.

RECOMMENDED ACTION:

Haldex recommends all relay valves manufactured between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001 be repaired or replaced. Haldex further recommends that service brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Safety Defect Campaign and that parking brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Field Service Campaign.

NOTICE: Haldex Two and Four Port Relay Valves
Manufactured From September 19, 2000 – February 10, 2001
NHTSA File: 01E-020.001

Dear Mr. Moore:

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act.

Haldex Brake Systems (Haldex) has notified Meritor WABCO that a defect relating to motor vehicle safety exists in two and four port relay valves that Haldex manufactured between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001. The affected relay valves generally are used to control the service brake system and/or the parking brake system on power units equipped with a pneumatic braking system.

DEFECT:

Haldex has indicated that the defect results from a rough microfinish on the mating surface of the valve modulation tube. In cold weather environments, the rough microfinish may cause the exhaust relay valve to remain open when a high pressure application is released. If this occurs, the service brake system and/or park brake system may lose all air pressure. In a park brake system, an open relay valve will prevent the compressor from building system air pressure and the parking brake may not release. In a service brake system application, use of the primary brake system may be lost which will be accompanied by a low pressure warning buzzer.

Meritor WABCO is unaware of any accidents or injuries resulting from this defect.

RECOMMENDED ACTION:

Haldex recommends all relay valves manufactured between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001 be repaired or replaced. Haldex further recommends that service brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Safety Defect Campaign and that parking brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Field Service Campaign.

PARTS INVOLVED:

This action affects all relay valves identified by the part numbers shown below that were manufactured by Haldex between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001.

Haldex has indicated that the defect results from a rough microfinish on the mating surface of the valve modulation tube. In cold weather environments, the rough microfinish may cause the exhaust relay valve to remain open when a high pressure application is released. If this occurs, the service brake system and/or park brake system may lose all air pressure. In a park brake system, an open relay valve will prevent the compressor from building system air pressure and the parking brake may not release. In a service brake system application, use of the primary brake system may be lost which will be accompanied by a low pressure warning buzzer.

RECOMMENDED ACTION:

Haldex recommends all relay valves manufactured between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001 be repaired or replaced. Haldex further recommends that service brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Safety Defect Campaign and that parking brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Field Service Campaign.

PARTS INVOLVED:

This action affects all relay valves identified by the part numbers shown below that were manufactured by Haldex between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001.

NOTICE: Haldex Two and Four Port Relay Valves
Manufactured From September 19, 2000 – February 10, 2001
NHTSA File: 01E-020.001

Dear

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act.

Haldex Brake Systems (Haldex) has notified Meritor WABCO that a defect relating to motor vehicle safety exists in two and four port relay valves that Haldex manufactured between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001. The affected relay valves generally are used to control the service brake system and/or the parking brake system on power units equipped with a pneumatic braking system.

DEFECT:

Haldex has indicated that the defect results from a rough microfinish on the mating surface of the valve modulation tube. In cold weather environments, the rough microfinish may cause the exhaust relay valve to remain open when a high pressure application is released. If this occurs, the service brake system and/or park brake system may lose all air pressure. In a park brake system, an open relay valve will prevent the compressor from building system air pressure and the parking brake may not release. In a service brake system application, use of the primary brake system may be lost which will be accompanied by a low pressure warning buzzer.

RECOMMENDED ACTION:

Haldex recommends all relay valves manufactured between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001 be repaired or replaced. Haldex further recommends that service brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Safety Defect Campaign and that parking brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Field Service Campaign.

PARTS INVOLVED:

This action affects all relay valves identified by the part numbers shown below that were manufactured by Haldex between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001.

Dear Mr. Muscedere:

We have reviewed Meritor WABCO Vehicle Control Systems' (Meritor WABCO) Defect Information Report dated May 18, 2001, submitted in accordance with 49 CFR Part 573, "Defect and Noncompliance Reports." This recall involves 19,300 two and four port relay valves manufactured between September 19, 2000, and February 10, 2001. These valves are used to control either the service brake system or park brake systems on tractors, trucks, and trailers. The valve may stick open when a high-pressure application is released. These valves can be identified with a date code on the valve of 380K, 390K, 400K, 410K, 420K, 430K, 440K, 450K, 460K, 470K, 480K, 490K, 500K, 510K, 520K, 011K, 021K, 031K, 041K, 051K, or 061K, and are dark green in color. When the valve sticks open, it can result in a total loss of air from either the service or the park brake system. The driver may lose braking ability under a service application, possibly resulting in a vehicle crash. The assigned NHTSA identification number for this campaign is 01E-020.001.

Meritor WABCO is responsible for the remedy of this equipment from this date forward, regardless of age or ownership.

- 1) The enclosed report is submitted by:

Meritor WABCO Vehicle Control Systems
3331 West Big Beaver Road
Suite 300
Troy, Michigan 48064

- 2) This report pertains to two and four port relay valves manufactured by Haldex Brake Systems and sold by Meritor WABCO to various OEM customers between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001. Attachment A is a summary of the OEM purchasers of the subject relay valves.

These relay valves are typically used to control the service brake system and /or parking brake system on power units and trailers equipped with a pneumatic braking system. Haldex has determined that the last affected relay valves were manufactured on February 10, 2001. Parts manufactured after February 10th were from a revised tool that corrected the defect.

Non-Compliance Report
September 7, 2001 – Page 2

NOTICE: Haldex Two and Four Port Relay Valves
Manufactured From September 19, 2000 – February 10, 2001
NHTSA File: 01E-020.001

Dear Mr. Jaramillo:

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act.

Haldex Brake Systems (Haldex) has notified Meritor WABCO that a defect relating to motor vehicle safety exists in two and four port relay valves that Haldex manufactured between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001. The affected relay valves generally are used to control the service brake system and/or the parking brake system on power units equipped with a pneumatic braking system.

DEFECT:

Haldex has indicated that the defect results from a rough microfinish on the mating surface of the valve modulation tube. In cold weather environments, the rough microfinish may cause the exhaust relay valve to remain open when a high pressure application is released. If this occurs, the service brake system and/or park brake system may lose all air pressure. In a park brake system, an open relay valve will prevent the compressor from building system air pressure and the parking brake may not release. In a service brake system application, use of the primary brake system may be lost which will be accompanied by a low pressure warning buzzer.

RECOMMENDED ACTION:

Haldex recommends all relay valves manufactured between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001 be repaired or replaced. Haldex further recommends that service brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Safety Defect Campaign and that parking brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Field Service Campaign.

PARTS INVOLVED:

This action affects all relay valves identified by the part numbers shown below that were manufactured by Haldex between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001.

CORRECTIVE ACTION:

All suspect relay valves should be repaired using Haldex Brake Kit #RN10JY or completely replaced. Vehicles should be taken to an OEM certified dealership to complete this service action. Dear Magnum customer:

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act. Meritor WABCO is providing this Notification on behalf of Haldex and Magnum Terminal Tractors.

Magnum Terminal has examined their manufacturing records and determined that your vehicle is equipped with a Meritor WABCO ABS system that is affected by the Notice.

In cold weather environments, the rough microfinish may cause the exhaust relay valve to remain open when a high pressure application is released. If this occurs, the service brake system and/or park brake system may lose all air pressure. Subject: Campaign Notice: Haldex Two and Four Port Relay Valves Manufactured From September 19, 2000 – February 10, 2001 and installed in Monaco Coach Vehicles.

Ref: NHTSA File: 01E-020.001

Dear Monaco customer:

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act. Meritor WABCO is providing this Notification on behalf of Haldex and Monaco Coach Corporation.

Monaco Coach has examined their manufacturing records and determined that your vehicle is equipped with a Meritor WABCO ABS system that is affected by the Notice.

General Information:

Haldex has indicated that the defect results from a rough microfinish on the mating surface of the valve modulation tube. In cold weather environments, the rough microfinish may cause the exhaust relay valve to remain open when a high pressure application is released. If this occurs, the service brake system and/or park brake system may lose all air pressure. In a park brake system, an open relay valve will prevent the compressor from building system air pressure and the parking brake may not release. In a service brake system application, use of the primary brake system may be lost which will be accompanied by a low pressure warning buzzer.

Haldex recommends all relay valves manufactured between September 19, 2000 and February 10, 2001 be repaired or replaced. Haldex further recommends that service brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Safety Defect Campaign and that parking brake relay valves be repaired or replaced as a Field Service Campaign.

All suspect relay valves should be repaired using Haldex Brake Kit #RN10JY or completely replaced. Vehicles should be taken to an OEM certified dealership to complete this service action. Questions, requests for literature, and the warranty claim processing should be directed to Don Myers at Haldex. He can be reached at telephone number 816-801-2641 or fax number 816-891-9432.
